Dear families,

As you are aware, OFSTED visited Windsor on 28th and 29th April, and we are now pleased that we can share the report with you.

It is important to note that Ofsted now judges schools differently. Rather than awarding one overall grade, inspectors assess individual aspects of a school's work, allowing them to recognise strengths and identify priorities for improvement more clearly. This approach enabled inspectors to highlight the many strengths of Windsor.

We are delighted that Ofsted recognised Windsor Community Primary School as a highly inclusive, caring and welcoming school where everyone is valued. The inspection highlighted our strong commitment to inclusion, effective safeguarding, excellent pastoral support, positive behaviour and the broad range of opportunities available to our pupils. Inspectors noted that pupils are happy, safe and enthusiastic learners, and praised the strong relationships between staff, pupils and families that create such a positive sense of community. Inspectors also praised our Early Years provision, noting that children make a positive start to school, develop strong early reading skills and are supported by caring staff who create a safe, nurturing and engaging environment. We are proud of all of these strengths and will continue to build on them as well as working towards our next step.

Ofsted identified writing as the key area for development, the inspectors acknowledged that we have already begun implementing improvements and recognised that this work is at an early stage. The report's only next step is to accelerate the impact of these improvements by strengthening how the school monitors the writing curriculum and pupils' progress in writing.

Thank you for your continued support and to all of you who spoke so positively to the Inspectors about the support we give you and your child. Windsor really is a 'family' where everyone is included.

Best wishes
